Competition Law

Yaman Verma is a Partner in the Firm's Competition Law Practice with over 13 years' experience. He has been practicing competition law since the Competition Act came into force in India and has advised on a number of significant enforcement and merger control cases, with a special focus on technology and e-commerce markets.

Yaman works with clients across a spectrum of industries, including Microsoft Corporation, Meta Platforms Inc., Coal India Limited, Walmart, Inc., E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, Vodafone India Limited, WhatsApp, Inc., Flipkart Ltd., Temasek, Zomato, and Xiaomi.

Yaman is currently involved in a number of high-profile cartel as well as abuse of dominance enforcement cases, including several major investigations into digital markets. He is presently representing Meta Platforms, Inc. (formerly Facebook), and WhatsApp, Inc. in relation to the Competition Commission of India's (CCI) investigation into WhatsApp's 2021 Update to its privacy policy. He also represented a confidential informant who initiated the CCI's investigation into Google's Play Store and payments practices, where in October 2022 the CCI found Google guilty of abuse of dominance, fined Google approx. USD 144 million, and ordered a raft of changes to the way Google operates. He also advised several third parties who gave evidence in the CCI's Google Android investigation, which resulted in another approx. USD 162 million fine and a host of behavioural remedies in October 2022. He advised OSLabs Technology in the Google Android appeals process, where he successfully opposed Google getting interim relief on the CCI's directions, before both the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal (NCLAT) and the Supreme Court. The NCLAT subsequently substantially upheld the CCI Order. He previously represented Flipkart Internet Private Limited, in proceedings before the CCI, the Karnataka High Court, and the Supreme Court, and successfully defended Microsoft against an allegation of unfair and discriminatory pricing, WhatsApp against allegations of abuse of dominance, online retailer Flipkart against allegations of preferential treatment and discrimination, and online food platform Zomato against allegations of abuse of dominance. He also successfully represented Matrimony.com in an abuse of dominance case against Google, where the CCI fined Google approx. USD 17 million. He has successfully represented Coal India Limited against allegations of abuse of dominance by explosives manufacturers as well as certain power generation companies. He was also involved in obtaining a reversal of the CCI's order finding Coal India Limited in violation of the Competition Act, after which the CCI re-heard the matter and reduced the penalty imposed upon Coal India Limited. He was then involved in obtaining an unconditional stay from the NCLAT on the CCI's revised order.

He also routinely advises clients in relation to their agreements and allegations of cartelisation and has successfully represented Coal India Limited in a cartel complaint
